Wellgate Community Farm

Wellgate Community Farm began its life in 1982, set up by volunteers as a project which would encourage local participation in all aspects of the Farm's activity. The name Wellgate is derived from the two local estates from which the first volunteers came: Chadwell Heath and Marks Gate. The Farm offers local people, schools and groups an invaluable opportunity to experience a working farm and its animals which include: ponies, goats, sheep, pig, rabbits, guinea pidge, chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys

Our 1.5 acre site was granted to us under a management agreement by the London Borough of Barking and Dagenham and is located off Collier Row Road near to City Limits, formerly the Roller Bowl. Initially the ground was nothing but a wasteland, overgrown with hawthorn bushes and used as a builder's tip. Over the years the Farm has developed greatly and much has changed, although its principal aim of being a focus for community remains our driving force. We now with schools, groups and organisations is continually increasing and the opportunities for employment training, work experience and therapy are being well utilised.

We see ourselves as a "Bridge Between"
